XXXII EDITION

MACAEL AWARDS 2018 XXXII EDITION

The Macael Awards were created in 1985 with the objective of recognizing professional people in different areas like craft, design, architecture nationally and internationally, and also, people, mass media and institutions or administrations that have been working to the benefit of the natural stone sector.

Over these 31 years the Macael Awards have become the most important event of the natural stone sector with great prestige and seriousness.

Throughout these editions, there have been many personalities present at the event: Spanish Ministers like Luis De Guindos, Cristóbal Montoro or Manuel Pimentel, the Presidents of the Government of Andalusia, like Susan Díaz and Manuel Chaves, Presidents of the Government of Spain, like Mariano Rajoy and José Maria Aznar, the current Queen of Spain, Ms. Letizia Ortiz S.M., or even important architects like Sainz de Oiza, Rafael de la Hoz, Cesar Portela, Alberto Campo Baeza, Ethan Anthony, Daniel Libeskind among others relevant personalities, both national and international.

Moreover, internationally significant institutions such as MIA (Marble Institute of America) or ASID (American Society of Interior Designers), and the Hearst Design communication group, all Americans, have been awarded in the 2014, 2015 and 2016 editions.

1.2. Rules to participate

As appeared in Article 1st of its Statutes, the Association of the Marble Industry in Andalusia (AEMA) was established "for the representation, management, protection and promotion of common professional interests of its members." As part of this project, since its creation, AEMA has driven the development of activities that promote the marble sector.

For 31 years, AEMA has been awarding the Macael Awards. These awards are intended to recognize those professionals who, in the last year, have excelled especially in the fields of architecture, crafts and design at national and international level, and to the People, Institutions and Media, who have performed singular actions for the benefit of the Marble Sector.

The works must be done in Marble from Macael or elaborated by companies' members of AEMA. The AEMA's intention is that this recognition must be articulated around criteria of merit, ensuring the full objectivity and transparency in the awarding of the Awards.

According with the above, this year, a new edition of Macael Awards will be called, which will be governed by the following:
